BRITONS FACE DEATH SINGING AND JOKING

Rev. James Molloy, Home From Battlefield, Tells of Fighting in Trenches.

BUSINESS OF KILLING SEEMS MECHANICAL

Describes German Advance at Mons, Saying Commanders Recklessly Sent Men Forward.

NEW YORK, September 25.—A tale of warfare from the British camp in France, vivid with description of the way the English forces faced death on the battlefield, of the jokes they cracked and the prayers they said with the bullets sweeping their ranks, was brought to New York today by the Rev. James Molloy, a native of Trenton, N. J., who served as chaplain for several weeks with one of the British regiments in France and returned home today on the Mauretania.

"In a modern battle there is an overpowering sense of unreality," he said. "The business of seeing men kill each other seems mechanical because of the preparation of the machine element in the affair; the human element simply bleeds and dies, but the machine continues in their perfection of slaughter."

"The conduct of the English and Irish soldiers in the trenches was surprising. There those men stood behind shoulder-high mounds of dirt, facing level sprays of death in front, yet cracking jokes and singing snatches of music hall ballads between volleys. Stupendous bravery, I call it, or stupendous absence of it."

"I've heard men under the crashing fire of the terrible German guns and with comrades dropping all about them unite in roaring, 'It's a long road to Tipperary,' as if they were in barracks. Sometimes I'd see a big fellow get hit out to a neighbor in the trenches. Well, I winged that Dutchman, all right. The business of killing them seemed personal and to partake somewhat of a sporting event."

Germans Found English.

"But how the Germans did pound that British line at Mons! They came on and on, and on, never stopping, never faltering. It was like the waves of a blue-gray sea rolling up through the trench, but another would break and die for good. They were like a long row of pale blue blocks, topped with spiked helmets, breaking from cover and rushing at you. When a British gun burst into the air, a shell would drop in the midst of the blue block, a great hurling up of smoke and soil—and the block would be gone. Nothing left but a few little men madly running back through the haze of powder smoke."

"But the German shells kept coming and coming. They were terrible, those shells! I have seen one shell enter a little hill and there explode, carrying the whole top of the hill away. I have seen a company of British wiped out by the explosion of a single shell."

Weird Night Fighting.

"Perhaps the night fighting is the most weird and terrible to see. In this the forces of the allies had the superiority through their preponderant supply of aeroplanes. The allied forces on the retreat from Mons to Senlis had thirty-five aeroplanes, which were busy day and night, but particularly at night."

You would hear a whirring of invisible propellers overhead and by straining your ears could trace the direction of the night flier over the German positions. Gunners stand ready behind their pieces, keyed up to a wire pitch of efficiency."

Suddenly a spark appears in the heavens; it falls. The airman has discovered the position of a German battery, and his falling torch makes the range and the position. Instantly the British guns roar and a shower of shells soars up to follow the line of that falling star."

EXPECTS WINTER CAMPAIGN.

France Preparing for Clothing for the Troops.

BORDEAUX, September 25.—Minister of War Millerand has sent a circular to all the prefects of France requesting them to obtain as rapidly as possible supplies of woolen underclothes, socks, gloves and blankets for the use of French soldiers in a winter campaign.

He says that the supplying of this clothing will provide employment for many woman millworkers and help local industries to keep running.

British Detain Racing Boat of Head of Gun Works.

LONDON, September 25.—The racing yacht Germania, owned by Lieut. Dr. Gustav Krupp, of Karlsruhe, and headed by the Krupp gun works of Germany, has been ordered detained by the British prize court.

AT THE SAME TIME GEN. VON KLUCK HAS EXTENDED HIS LINES TO ST. AMAND AND IS IN TOUCH WITH THE THIRTEENTH FRENCH ARMY CORPS AT COURCHELLETES AND ARLEUX. "The minister at Stockholm reports that within the past two weeks several destitute Americans have been sent to the United States via Liverpool, and that none now remains in Stockholm, though possibly there may be a small number in the country districts."

MANLY AMERICANS STILL IN EUROPE

Steamship Service Is Sufficient for Return, State Department Is Told.

Quite a number of Americans are still scattered throughout Europe, many in the war zone, but train and steamship service is being restored sufficiently to assist their safe transportation back to this country when they are desirous of returning, according to cable reports to the State Department from administration agents in Europe.

The reports show a general improvement in the financial, commercial and industrial conditions throughout the field of belligerency. The following summary, given out by the State Department, shows where the American refugees have collected and what arrangements have been made for their return to American soil:

"The minister at Bern telegraphed that there are 913 Americans in Switzerland. Fifty-eight of these expect to leave in September, 271 in October and 81 in November. The movements of the remaining 893, which included many permanent residents, are indefinite. Those remaining are scattered all over Switzerland, and about 70 per cent are women."

"The minister at The Hague cables that a train service on the continent is somewhat irregular, but that transportation to England is easy. Steamers for the United States are booked up until October 15."

Ship Sails From Italy.

"The ambassador at Rome telegraphed that the steamer Tomasso Di Savoia has sailed from Genoa with 384 passengers. Small numbers of Americans are reaching Genoa daily from Trieste. Two ships sailing September 21 and 27 will be able to take all the Americans in that part of Italy who desire to leave."

"The consul at Naples reports that a few stranded Americans arrive there daily, mostly from the Balkans and the near east, and that needed assistance is being furnished them."

"In Milan there are still about 168 Americans, and in Turin sixty-four, most of whom are residents and in business."

"Florence reports there are 537 Americans there, mostly residents."

"In Venice there are sixty-eight, of whom thirteen will leave during September."

"In Leghorn there are ninety-eight, of whom sixteen will leave in September."

"In Palermo there are thirty-one Americans, including a number of naturalized citizens in outlying towns."

"In Catania there are about 100 Americans."

"In Rome there are about 570, including 120 students at the American Catholic College and twenty students at the American Academy. Ships now scheduled to sail are adequate for transportation of all Americans desiring to go."

"The minister at Copenhagen telegraphs that practically all Americans desiring repatriation have been provided for."

Americans in Germany.

"From Berlin it is reported that Americans remaining in Breslau are 28; Coburg, 15; Stuttgart, 12; Kiel, 15; Munich, few; Nuremberg, 5; Dresden, 2. Transportation facilities to England are ample. One vessel a week leaves from Rotterdam for the United States."

"Ambassador Herriek, at Paris, reports that it is difficult to estimate the number of Americans in Paris, because they are constantly moving about without notifying the embassy, but he believes there are approximately 1,000 there, mostly permanent residents and very few tourists. Consuls at Bordeaux reports 150 to 200 Americans in his district; Bayonne, 100; Calais, 60; Boulogne sur Mer, 20; Cognac, 4; Grenoble, 70; Havre, 170; Cherbourg, 1; Limoges, 3; Lyon, 28; Dijon, 6; Marseille, 70; Cotte, 2; Nantes, 100; Brest, none registered; Nice, 140; Roubaix, 15; Dunkirk, 8; Rouen, 14; Dieppe, 12, and St. Etienne and Lyons.

"The steamer Espagnole sailed September 19; La France sailed September 26, and with her first and second-class cabins available. The Roumbou is expected to sail October 3; Touraine, October 10; Chicago, October 17. Americans are still proceeding to England for embarkation."

"The minister at Stockholm reports that within the past two weeks several destitute Americans have been sent to the United States via Liverpool, and that none now remains in Stockholm, though possibly there may be a small number in the country districts."

Winnipeg Says Collet Is Former Resident of Manitoba.

WINNIPEG, September 25.—Lieut. C. H. Collet, the British aviator who dropped three bombs on a Zeppelin shed at Dusseldorf, Germany, Wednesday, is a former resident of Manitoba. He is only twenty-six years old. The Collet family was formerly engaged in farming at Oak Bluff, Man.

About fifteen years ago the Collets returned to England. There are several boys in the family and every one of them is said to be in the army and at the front at the present time.

Col. Roosevelt's Youngest Daughter, Mrs. Derby, Going to Paris.

NEW YORK, September 25.—Theodore Roosevelt's youngest daughter, Ethel, wife of Dr. Richard Derby, will nurse the wounded in the hospitals of Paris and her husband will be a surgeon in the French city. The two will sail for Europe on the White Star liner Olympic tomorrow. Richard Derby, Jr., during their absence will be taken care of at Col. Roosevelt's home in Oyster Bay. The baby is six months old.

Dr. Derby will go abroad in response to the call issued by Dr. Joseph A. Blake, the New York surgeon, now head of the American Ambulance Corps in Paris, for six surgeons and a pathologist. Dr. Blake's call referred to the unusual opportunity Paris affords at this time for experience in surgical work.

CARNEGIE IS OPPOSED TO HALTING WAR NOW

To Do So Would Bring About But an Armed Truce, He Declares.

NEW YORK, September 25.—Andrew Carnegie, advocate of international peace, reached New York today aboard the steamer Mauretania with a new version of how the war in Europe was started.

"What we want is an international court to stop war," he said. "No real friend of lasting peace wants to stop the war now. That would be a short-sighted policy, and would be but an armed truce."

"I'll tell you how the war started," said Mr. Carnegie. "The Kaiser was on a holiday on his yacht in the North sea. While he was away he received a telegram asking him to return to Berlin. When he returned the mischief had already been done."

Is a Peace-Loving Man.

"The Kaiser himself is a marvelous man, possessed of wonderful ingenuity. He has done more good for Germany than any other man before him. He has built up a great foreign commerce and a marvelous internal business. The Kaiser himself is a peace-loving man."

"The trouble was started by the German military caste that rules the country. They are responsible for the war. The Kaiser gathered around him a group of men who, unknown to him, acted in concert and in his absence took the action that could not be altered."

"As for my own country, I do not know how to thank God that I live in a brotherhood of forty-eight nations—forty-eight nations in one union."

America's duty to the world, Mr. Carnegie added, is to point the way to an everlasting peace.

Mrs. Carnegie and their daughter accompanied Mr. Carnegie on the trip across the Atlantic.

KING'S OPINION OF WAR.

Alfonso Wires Congratulations and Sympathy to Bereaved Father.

BIARRITZ, France, via Bordeaux, September 25.—Dr. De Lostalot, a local physician, who has in the past been consulted by King Alfonso of Spain, has received from his majesty a telegram expressing sympathy on the death of a son in battle. The message, dated at the royal palace, Madrid, reads as follows:

"I have just learned of the loss of your son. The finest death a man can have is falling for his country. I congratulate you, but at the same time I feel deeply for your father's heart."

Raw Snails Fugitive's Diet.

MONTPELLIER, via Bordeaux, September 25.—A German prisoner who escaped at the beginning of the month was recaptured today by a sergeant, to whom he declared he had lived in the open air for twenty years, subsisting on rain and raw snails.

WARSHIP FLEET REPORTED CRUISING IN NORTH SEA

Nationality Not Divulged and London Becomes Greatly Excited.

LONDON, September 25.—A dispatch to the Standard from Copenhagen states that a fishing fleet has arrived at Falkenberg, Sweden, which has been in close proximity to a fleet of thirty warships. They were sighted in the vicinity of Anholt, a Danish island in the Kattegat, a large arm of the North sea, which has Sweden on the east and Jutland on the west.

The nationality of the warships has not been divulged. They were steaming down the principal deep-water channel on the Swedish side in a southerly direction toward the only entrance for large vessels to the Baltic from the North sea.

The news has caused great excitement here. The sound is extensively mined and foreign war vessels run a great risk in steaming in them without a pilot. Denmark, however, could not supply pilots without upsetting her neutrality.
